DEATH OF MR. RUSH STEVENS.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. Rush Stevens Oct. 1, 1926 and took from her the loving companion. He left his dear wife with her broken, sitting on a rolling chair. Oh! Grandfather how hard it is to give you up but God knew best so he took him out of his sufferings. He was paralyzed Wednesday evening between one and two o'clock in his left side. He was sick only 48 hours, for the first 24 hours he could talk but the next 24 hours we would call him but dear friend he would not answer. Hard it was to talk to my dear old grandfather and then he could not speak to me.

Went it be so sweet when we can meet him in Heaven on that shining street of gold.

Went not Grandmother but pray that you may meet him some day, that you know he is at rest.

Grandmother you know that it is hard for you that you can not hear that low foot-step tramping over the floor and he cannot come in and talk with you as he often did. Oh! he will be greatly missed by all who knew him. It went ever seem like grandfather's house. He was so lively, to who were so kind to us during his illness also do we thank Dr. Braswell and Dr. Bruce. Everything that loving hands could do was done but God knoweth best for all. Funeral services were held at Zion Chapel Saturday morning Oct. 2, 1926, then his body was buried beneath a bank of flowers.

May God's richest blessing rest over each and every one of them and to our dear Grandfather some beautiful day.

—Written by his Granddaughter.

Announcement.

While Adam and Eve fell for an apple, it might be a source of satisfaction to them to know that their descendants have fallen for APPLE SAUCE ever since. Most of us still like it if "spread" in a reasonable manner.

We have an IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT to make and that is that no man is enjoying life without an auto of his own. In these days of used car values no purse is too small to neglect an opportunity. Every used-car you see in display has been used but not abused.

PIG CLUB BOYS DO BIG WORK IN COFFEE
COUNTY.

Auburn Ala., Nov. 10th.—In little more than two years pig club boys of Coffee County have made a big start in stocking the farms of that county with purebred Duroc-Jersey hogs. R. G. Arnold county demonstration agent for Coffee County, reports that there are now 250 registered Duroc-Jersey sows in the hands of Coffee County boys, and he estimates that fully 500 hogs produced by the boys are owned by farmers. In addition 50 or more have been sold and shipped to farmers and club boys in other counties.

This work began soon after Mr. Arnold became county agent in Coffee County. Forty girls of the very best Duroc-Jersey breeding were shipped into the county with the bankers assisting in financing the project. Worthy boys who were good pig club prospects were lent money to buy pigs. Three Duroc-Jersey hogs of similar breeding were bought and, with this foundation stock, the registered hog population of Coffee County has spread very rapidly.

Boys began the work with the understanding that if they produced pigs equal to the best of the very best Duroc-Jersey hogs they were guaranteed a sale at very satisfactory prices, while those failing to produce hogs up to the standard were not given any promises about selling. They were given instructions on hog production, especially feeding and management, by mail and at their club meetings. In this way Mr. Arnold has kept in close touch with them.

To assist with keeping up interest and to keep the public informed of hog production, the boys have been staged each fall at Enterprise and Elba. In the fall of 1924 only those 40 girls and 3 boys of the original purchase were shown but a year later 250 hogs were seen. This number was all that could be accommodated, and about the same number will be seen in the 1926 show.

To carry on their work as an organization, the boys have organized the Coffee County boys' pig club. With the help of Mr. Arnold and the Coffee County Farm Bureau registration papers are kept up and it is said that this is the only organization in Alabama having registered Duroc-Jersey hogs for sale.

Billious dull feeling. "MY old standby is Theodor's Black-Draught—I have used it off and on for about 20 years," says Mr. W. S. Reynolds, of J. D. & A. Arnold, Inc. "I got bilious and have a bad taste in my mouth. My head feels dull. I don't just feel like getting around and doing my work. I know it isn't laziness, but biliousness. "So I take a few doses of Black-Draught and when it acts well, get up feeling like new—full of pep and ready for any kind of work. "I can certainly recommend it. In case of biliousness and other disagreeable conditions due to an inactive liver, Black-Draught helps to drive the poisonous impurities out of the system and tends to leave the organs in a state of normal, healthy activity. "Black-Draught is made entirely of pure medicinal roots and herbs and contains no dangerous or harmful mineral drugs. It can be safely taken by anyone. Sold everywhere. Price 25c.

Mrs. Mary Isabel Johnson, 28, and her two young children were burned to death, her 9 year old daughter, Mary Aline, was burned so seriously that she died this afternoon, and her husband, James A. Johnson, 34, and Mr. Johnson's mother Mrs. Allie V. Johnson, 59, are critically burned, all of them having been trapped in fire which destroyed their home on the Gasser Dairy Farm, Neely's Bend road. "Collie," a big dog which fought its way through the fire to bark the alarm, may give its life, a martyr to its traditional devotion to man. The two babies found burned to death, near their mother, whose last efforts had been to rescue them, were Thomas Edward, five, and Howard Le Roy Johnson, five months old. W. R. Riley, 56, father of Mrs. Johnson, was the only member of the household not caught in the fiery trap. He spent the night at the home of B. H. Duke, a neighbor. Mr. Johnson, foreman of the cattle herd on Walter E. Gasser's big dairy farm six miles east of Nashville, had just completed his early morning work at the barns and returned to his home at 6:30 a. m. Mrs. Johnson was preparing breakfast for her in the kitchen, and the children, with their grandmother, were asleep in another of the three rooms of the little frame bungalow. Johnson, just after entering the house, picked up a large can of coal oil and started to pour it into a little sheet iron heater. As the liquid hit the flames of a kerosene lamp, it tore the whole side of the stove away, igniting the house and trapping the family.

CHARLES R. DAVIS FREED BY JEFFERSON COUNTY JURY.

Birmingham, Nov. 13.—Chas. R. Davis, former warden of Flat Top prison mine, last night was freed of murder charges in connection with the death of James Knox, native of West Virginia, and a convict in the mine in 1924, after a jury had deliberated less than one hour.

Davis was acquitted after 11 days of legal clashes between opposing counsel with convicts and ex-convicts playing the roles of leading witnesses for both sides. The state charged that Knox was beaten and then ducked in a laundry vat until dead, accusing Davis of issuing orders that resulted in the death of the convict and of later ordering poison pumped into Knox's body to stimulate suicide.

Four other persons were indicted in connection with the death of Knox, the Jefferson county grand jury returning true bills after an investigation which started the whole state and which injected the convict lease system into the democratic primary. Charges of cruelty were made before the indictments, according to its report a few weeks later, with the warden accused of heading the prison regime that dealt out harsh punishment to convicts supposedly not in favor with Davis.

Wiley Pugh, convict, was the state's principal witness. His statement to state authorities a short time after Knox's death precipitated the investigation which resulted in the indictment of Davis and four others on murder charges.

The death of Knox, convicted told virtually the same story as that based by Pugh on the stand.

Cecil Houston, convict and one of Warden Davis' trustees at Flat Top, also under indictment in connection with the Knox death, led a group of prisoners in defense of Davis, claiming that Knox took poison.

Davis smiled broadly tonight when informed of the jury's action while his wife, who had been in the court room with him throughout the trial, was overjoyed.

RUSHING FAMILY HAS RE-UNION AND BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

On October the 3rd, 1926, Mr. John M. Rushing Sr., who lives nine miles North of Elba, celebrated his sixtieth birthday and had with him quite a large number of his friends and relatives. The seats were arranged for the guests under shade trees on the lawn.

The friends and relatives began to gather about nine o'clock in the morning, and by noon a crowd estimated at around two hundred had gathered. At any rate there were a lot of folks present and the crowd did not break until about five in the afternoon.

The older people sat under the shade trees in the morning and talked about old times and the difference in the old and present times, while the younger people played games on the lawn.

Dinner was served under the shade trees in picnic fashion. Tea and coffee were served with the meal, while lemonade was served to the guests all during the day. There was more dinner than was needed, and quite a number carried some home with them and no one went away hungry or thirsty.

In the afternoon a splendid sermon delivered by Rev. Moody was highly enjoyed by the crowd.

Mr. Rushing is the father of sixteen children of whom fifteen are living. Twelve were present on the occasion. Sixteen of his twenty-one grand children were present.

Everybody seemed to enjoy the occasion, and so expressed themselves. We hope to meet with Mr. Rushing on October the 3rd many times on such an affair in the future.

ROTHERS WILL BUILDING SIDE.

Dorsey B. Rother, local Ford dealer, will erect at an early date a new two-story building on the East Side of Court Square, according to announcement made a few days ago. The new building will be located on the lot now occupied by the law offices of W. M. Brunson, and the late W. W. Sanders. The new building will be connected with the building now occupied by Dorsey Brothers, and when completed will give this firm one of the largest and most modernly equipped buildings in this section, being 35 feet front by 100 feet back, two stories.

According to plans which are now being made, the entire interior of the building will be re-arranged, giving a commodious show room across the front, a convenient stock room and well arranged offices. It is announced that as soon as plans have been completed for the building, a contract will be let and work started at the earliest date possible.

FARM PEOPLE TOO WILL GIVE THANKS

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 15.—Special. Although the price of cotton is low and their buying power is substantially reduced, farm people of Alabama have many things for which to be thankful this year, according to facts presented by Prof. L. N. Duncan, director, Extension Institute, Auburn.

The yield of all crops has been good. It has been a long time since nature has smiled upon farmers as lavishly as she has this year. The cotton crop is larger than that of last year, and even the acre-yield is a little higher.

Along with this good cotton crop, excellent yields of corn hay, and other foods and feed crops have been made. It has been the best garden year in a decade; many gardens furnishing fresh vegetables from early spring until late fall, and extending into the winter. Pastures have been good also.

While the purchasing power of farmers has been cut, Prof. Duncan says that with their barns full of hay, their cribs full of corn, plenty of meat in their smokehouses, and canned, dried, and other products in their pantries, farm people will have fewer things to buy, and thereby less buying to do next year.

Prof. Duncan admits freely that the cotton situation is bad because of low prices, but says that with the help of their bankers and business friends, farmers can pull out and get some permanent good from it by pooling their cotton for orderly marketing, by reducing the acreage next spring, and by increasing the uses and demands for cotton.
